DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This frame house is situated mid way between the Youghiogheny River and the Garrett County line off White Rock-Crosscut Road and faces southwest. It is a two by one bay, two story structure with a gable roof and a one by one bay rear ell off the northwest elevation of the house. The entrances, one on the facade to the southeast side of the house, the other on the northwest elevation where the ell meets the main block, are both covered by small shed additions.

An interior cinderblock chimney is located where the ell meets the main structure, toward the southeast elevation. Two over two sash windows light the house and are framed with plain flat boards. The house rests on a stone foundation. It is covered with weatherboard siding held with wire nails and is framed with cornerboards. The roof is covered with tarpaper, as are the roofs over the shed additions.
